MESSAGE FROM BRIAN

Business is moving, moving, moving! We are continuing to push forward to inspire and seize opportunities to challenge audiences to be themselves, to be creative and to take chances...all in the most entertaining ways. Over the past few months I have developed some new shows, expanded the repertoire and continue to reach out to focus on what's next.

We have developed yet another new website - don't forget to check it out at <http://brianoisenart.com> and let us know what you think! We have also dived full force into the realms of social networking. It has proven to be a very exciting way to communicate directly with clients and create lots of "fans" along the way. So join in and see the latest and greatest from Brian Olsen Art in Action! We're also excited to have a great new line of Brian Olsen Art in Action logo merchandise available online. Check it out at <http://brianoisenart.com/merchandise>

I know times have been tough and lots of us have made changes to adapt to new way of doing business. Please keep us updated with any changes including addresses and contact info.

Be sure to check in with our agents over at Concept Artists to learn about what new shows and pricing options are available and of course available dates!

I look forward to seeing you on the road!

Creatively,

Brian

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

Orlando, Florida-After painting Albert Einstein and Muhammad Ali at a Georgia Pacific corporate event, Brian received great feedback.

"Let me put it this way- I have been asked to find out the cost if we were to buy an additional 3-5 paintings from your portfolio and one custom piece of our product logo."

- Georgia Pacific

Brian was invited back for his 6th Artisphere, one of the festival's main attractions. Brian is requested because of his ability to draw and captivate huge crowds. His work has become iconic in Greenville and can be found hanging in homes, restaurants, and businesses throughout SC as word of his unique talent spreads.

"I was very proud of the positive message Brian gave the audience that anything is possible when you give your best, be creative, and take some chances. I hope to have him back for performances in the years to come."

-Pediatric Cancer Foundation
